JOHN HAS NEW RUBBER BOOTS

Merchants Willingly Pay For Pair Without Red Tops to Keep Street Sweeper's Feet Dry.

THOUGHTFUL BUSINESS MAN

That Aggravating Hitchrack Question Bobs up Again—Resolved to Get The Money.

Johnnie Singer got a new pair of rubber boots—and that's about all the business which was transacted at the meeting of the Rushville Retail Merchants Association last night. Few business men had the nerve to leave their firesides last night. It was such a night—Tom Scanlan will narrate what kind of a night it was to all of you who remained near your open grate, hard coal burner, or what not.

"What are we to write about tomorrow?" queried the newspaper reporters, when business began to lag.

"Write about Johnnie Singer's new rubber boots," was the rejoinder of one business man and Johnnie's seal was doomed. He was due for some publicity.

The story runs this way. Johnnie works for the city, pushes a cart and a broom over the brick streets, gathers up with a shovel the debris scattered there by careless persons and when he gets a load, takes it to the dumping ground. Men of Johnnie's occupation are called "white-wings" in large cities, but Rushville has not yet risen to the dignity of supporting a "white-wing" though Johnnie does the work of one of those things.

Johnnie is a faithful workman as all early risers will testify. Seven months out of the year he arises at four o'clock every Sunday morning and sweeps all of the brick streets in the business section of the city so they will be clean over Sunday when many visitors, including automobileists, pass through Rushville. One morning last summer he arose before the sun was up and had the streets clean because it was to be a big day in Rushville and Johnnie wanted Rushville looking at her very best.

But all this gets no place and has little to do with that pair of rubber boots which Johnnie is sporting these days. The other day Johnnie was working in the gutter in front of Lytle's drug store. T. W. Lytle observed that Singer's feet were wet and he commented to several bystanders that that man needed rubber boots. Frank Wilson joined the group and he agreed.

Mr. Lytle called Johnnie in and asked him if his (Johnnie's) feet were wet to which Johnnie replied yes and it was very plain that his feet were wet. When Johnnie said he had no rubber boots, T. W. Lytle ventured the assertion that he would pay for a pair of rubber boots for him if Will Bliss, who was in the crowd, would sell them at cost, and providing the Retail Merchants Association would not stand the cost. Frank Wilson said that he would join Mr. Lytle in the payment if the merchants association would not stand the freight.

Anyway Johnnie has had the advantage of the boots for several days and last night Will Bliss related the story to what few merchants were in attendance at the meeting. The business men readily consented to pay for the boots and the secretary was ordered to draw a check for the amount, payable to Will Bliss. And there's the story of Johnnie Singer's rubber boots.

The aggravating hitchrack question was the chief topic for discussion again last night. It was reported to the meeting that the special

DISTRICT SOLID FOR MEREDITH

Newspaper Comment is That Richmond Man Can Bring Dissenters Into Harmonious Body.

DISTRICT MEETING TO BE SOON

Watson is as Popular as Ever With Voters of Sixth, Says One Paper.

That Watson is popular with the masses of the Republican voters of the district was evidenced Wednesday by the cordial greeting given the former congressman when he arrived at Cambridge City to attend the district convention, says the New Castle Courier.

"Going to run, Jim?"
"How are you, Jim?"
"Welcome, old boy!"

The above and many other similar expressions of good will and friendship were bestowed upon Watson by representatives of every county in the district. It was an outburst of genuine enthusiasm and regard for a man that has served his party and his constituents well.

Linus P. Meredith, district chairman selected Wednesday, is a harmonizer of the old school. Mr. Meredith believes in old-time Republican principles and also the progressive measures that are in accord with the fundamentals of Republicanism. That he will have a successful administration as district chairman seems certain.

That Meredith will unite the Wayne county factions is evidenced by the representatives of the elements of the party who were present to see that the former sheriff was accorded the leadership mantle. His popularity alone in his home county and city will round up the factions on the common ground to bring success to his efforts.

Some Roosevelt sentiment was in evidence at the convention, but no effort was made to get the former presidential's name into the resolutions. The declarations of the convention as contained in the resolutions were for President Taft. No mention was made of the local op-

LOCALS WITHOUT GAME FOR TONIGHT

Shelbyville Will Meet Newcastle and Richmond—Will Decide District League Championship.

INDEPENDENTS AT MILFORD

The local high school basketball team has no game for tonight. The schedule called for a game at Connersville but because of the smallpox situation the game was cancelled. The Shelbyville team will play at Newcastle tonight and in Richmond Saturday night. These are both important games for Shelbyville as the championship of the district league will be determined by these two contests.

The Independents of this city will meet the fast Eurekas in Milford tomorrow night. The Eurekas have been playing a whirlwind game of late and the locals will have to go "some" to win.

The Falmouth team will play the strong New Salem team tonight in New Salem. The New Salem team is a fast aggregation and expects to win.

SPEAKERS ARE OF NATIONAL REPUTE

Two Men Who Will Address Union Meetings Sunday Evening Are Widely Known.

COMMENTS VERY PLEASING

Perry E. Powell Will Talk to Young People on "The Secret of the Airship."

The two special union meetings in the two Protestant churches of Rushville Sunday night will attract large crowds, it is believed by ministers and church workers generally. A brilliant address is to be expected in either instance as both men who have been obtained by the ministerial association have a pleasing personality and are forceful and consecrated men as is shown by their past record in work of the nature which they will discuss.

Perry Edwards Powell, Ph. D., Supreme Merlin of the Knights of the Holy Grail and national councilman of the Boy Scouts of America, will speak to young people at the First Presbyterian church at seven-thirty o'clock. He has announced that he will take for his subject, "The Secret of the Airship." Frank Clark of Denver will speak at the Main Street Christian church at the same hour.

Mr. Clark is a forceful and fluent talker. He tips the beams at two hundred and then some and has a wholesome and pleasing appearance that is winning and convincing. Mr. Clark is a layman. He is a business man yet he is deeply interested in any work toward the furtherance of Christianity. He has been associated in the work of the Men and Religion Forward Movement and was in St. Louis when the great eight day campaign was conducted there. Mr. Clark spoke at the Forward Movement luncheon here a few weeks ago. He will discuss the boy question from a parental viewpoint.

Perry E. Powell of the Boy Scouts and the Holy Grail needs no introduction to those people who are acquainted in a small way with these two organizations. He is known all over the United States as the advocate of the two associations and public men and newspapers have commented freely on his work. Newspaper comments are to be had from all over the United States, but those nearer home, in Indiana, are reproduced herewith:

His genial and affable manner makes him popular with all classes.—Greenfield Democrat.

MR. GROUNDHOG COILS UP AGAIN

That Traditional Bugger Snoozes on Peacefully and Winter's Backbone Remains Intact.

SIX MORE WEEKS OF IT DUE

Lowest Temperature Since Cold Wave is Recorded Today—Rising Temperature Tomorrow.

Brer Groundhog peeped out of his hole today and saw only the shadow of his head. Then he crawled right back in again and suffering humanity will continue to suffer with six more weeks of winter, a sample of which was abroad today.

There seems to be little doubt but what the groundhog saw his shadow, no matter where the groundhog and his shadow might have been. The sun persisted in shining intermittently enough at any rate, so the proverbial rodent might see his shadow, and the tradition surrounding this day might be preserved.

The sun did not help the mercury in its upward trend any today. The lowest temperature recorded in Rushville since the recent cold wave left these parts was that of this morning. At seven o'clock the temperature stood at ten degrees above zero and in an hour it dropped a degree, making the lowest mark reached for two weeks. The temperature never got above seventeen degrees all day.

The weather bureau yesterday forecast a cold wave for northern Indiana, but it failed to stay in the prescribed boundaries and slipped over in central and southern Indiana. The forecast for tomorrow is that a perceptible rise in temperature will be noted and clear skies will abound.

There are those who believe this the most important day of the year. They concede the honor not even to the nation's birthday, Christmas, Thanksgiving, their own natal day. They watch the skies closely in early morning and look for the first sign of breaking clouds. Had it remained cloudy, there would have been little doubt in the minds of many but what the backbone of winter had been broken, fractured beyond repair, and put out of commission for seven or eight months to come.

The date of groundhog day is an open question, subject to debate at any time. There are people who believe yesterday was the day of all the year when he peeps out of his hole while this is generally accepted to be the day. The State legislature endeavored to settle the dispute several years ago, but the man who introduced the bill was laughed out of the notion of pressing it to passage.

SMALL DAMAGE RESULTED.

The fire department answered a call to the home of John Kiplinger, corner Ninth and Main streets this afternoon, but the blaze was extinguished before their arrival. A coal oil stove in an upstairs room was turned over, but only small damage resulted.

THERMOMETER THIEVES.

A valuable thermometer was stolen from the porch of George Thomas last night and on the night previous one was taken from Hugh Gray's porch which is in the same neighborhood. It is believed thermometer thieves were justly indignant when they saw the temperature registered this morning.

THIRD TERM IDEA IS DISCUSSED IN HOUSE

Resolution Expresses Opposi- tion to Innovation.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Expressing opposition to the third term idea, a resolution introduced by Representative Slayden of Texas, is expected to lead to a demonstration in the house against the movement that has been started to nominate Roosevelt as the Republican presidential candidate this year. If present plans are carried out the Slayden resolution will be reported in the coming week and brought to a vote without delay. What its fate will be is uncertain. Here is the resolution:

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 4

THE WISE MEN LED BY THE STAR

MEMORY VERSES—

GOLDEN TEXT—Look unto me and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth; for I am God, and there is none else.—Isa. 45:22.

So quietly had Jesus made His appearance into the world that His arrival was unknown in Jerusalem until the Wise Men came from the East. Perhaps the shepherds had not told their tale of the heavenly vision, or perhaps they had told it, but it had been unheeded or ridiculed. So as the morning star still rises without noise, and as the seed shoots up and the flower opens in silence, so was it with the coming of Christ, the Rose of Sharon, and the Bright and Morning Star. No thunder awoke the hills of Palestine; no trumpet peal went through its city; no herald went before Him; no royal salute greeted Him. His mother and the chosen few of the inner circle who had witnessed the wondrous birth, made no proclamation of it—they received all in silent, happy faith, and pondered these things in their hearts.

Even so does Christ to-day make His advent into many a heart. So silently does He oftentimes come that one scarcely is able to tell the day or the hour when Christ was born in his life. The Kingdom of God does not always come with observation.

The inquiry of the Wise Men suggests a deep interest in Christ. Herod made no such inquiry save in jealousy; Jerusalem was not particularly interested in the subject; but a very few in Israel cared anything about it. How like conditions today.

The Wise Men confessed their ignorance. The truly wise man is never above asking questions. Pride keeps many people from Christ. Because, falsely, we say, "we see," our blindness remains with us. If we would find the Saviour, if we would know the forgiveness of sin, let us admit our ignorance and our need of a guide; let us cry to God to help us. It is better to ask God to lead us than to trust in our own reason. We seldom wander when on our knees.

The Wise Men had a motive for their search—they came to worship Him. And that is just the reason why they found Him. Herod could not find Him, nor could the chief priests and scribes—for the simple reason that they did not want to worship Him. No seeker will find Christ unless the motive of his seeking be that he may be saved by Him, and from henceforth live for and serve Him. A seeking sinner and a seeking Saviour will not be long before they meet, and the meeting will be a blessed one. Have you found Christ? If not, why not?

The Wise Men received encouragement in their search for Christ. They saw His star, which led them through the long desert until they found their place by Christ's side. So will it always be with those who are really seeking Christ. There is a light that others perchance may not see, a hand that others may not perceive, a voice that others may not hear—all of these are visible and audible to those who by faith are seeking Christ. The Church, the Bible, the Preaching of the Gospel, exemplary Christian lives, inward impulses—these may be stars that light the way to Him.

The Wise Men did not consider it enough that they had seen the star. They continued their journey until they saw the Christ. Is there not danger of our seeing the Church, the Bible, the sacraments, and yet missing Him? It would have been too bad for them to have come as far as Jerusalem and then to have given up without seeing Him, just as it would be too bad for us to have used all these spiritual aids, and yet not have found the Saviour.

As soon as these earnest seekers found Christ, they worshipped Him. What a glorious vision they had as they looked upon the Christ Child! They saw that which alone is worth seeing; that which fills and gladdens the soul when seen and known; that which righteous men of old desired to see, but saw only in glimpses and at intervals; that for the seeing of which Moses prayed so earnestly; that to which the eye of every creature should turn in longing anticipation; that which everything in heaven and in earth is intended to reveal; that for the beholding of which our eyes were made, and for the appreciation of which our minds were formed—Jesus Christ, the Son of God, and the Saviour of the world. To see anything less in the Christ child is to miss the heart of the vision.

They worshipped Him. They could not help it; nor can any man when once he has seen the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. It was said of Gladstone that when one was ushered into his presence, he was constrained to bow his head or raise his hat. So those who behold Christ must worship Him. Who can behold the sun without being dazzled? Who can behold deity without worshipping Him?

These men were men of mighty faith—they could look beyond a manger and see a throne; beyond a stable and see a mighty God.

Christian Endeavor
By E. P. Gates

TOPIC FOR FEBRUARY 4.

Christian Endeavor Ideals. John 15:1-8. (Christian Endeavor Day.)

People worth while do not waste their time, their money, or their energy on organizations without a purpose. The society that does not plan to work will not attract very many workers. The surest way to court failure is not to prepare for progress.

Definite goals for better work should be adopted by every Christian Endeavor society this year. No better standards can be found for this purpose than those suggested by the United Society of Christian Endeavor in connection with the newly-announced "Efficiency Campaign."

This campaign suggests twenty-eight goals to be attained by Christian Endeavor societies before July, 1913.

Each committee is given definite tasks to perform. The lookout committee, for example, is to add twenty-five per cent new members to the society within a year and keep a record of attendance and participation. A personal workers band is to be formed, honorary and associate members are to be enrolled, and the society is to be organized for definite support of the mid-week prayer meeting and Sunday evening services of the church. For the prayer meeting committee a preparatory meeting with the leader is suggested and a pre-prayer service before the Christian Endeavor hour. The society is to be developed until three-fourths of the active members will respond in public prayer and an equal number will give original testimony. The concession meeting is to be improved and the pledge emphasized. Three-fourths of the active members are to become members of the Quiet Hour.

Each of these standards is given a definite percentage value, the total for all twenty-eight being 100 per cent. Thus, a society that succeeds along all the lines suggested will be a "hundred per cent society."

A two-cent stamp to the United Society of Christian Endeavor, Chicago, Ill., will bring you without charge full information regarding the campaign.

Next Week's Meeting.

Topic—The Christian Virtues.—II. Generosity. II. Cor. 9:6-15. Have three five-minute papers on "Generosity with Our Money," "Generosity in Service" and "Generosity in Thought." Let the members of the society vote as to which is the most important quality. In the meeting write on the blackboard at the dictation of members, instances of generosity given in the Bible. Ask the members to be ready to prove their statements by scripture quotations?

(7) Verse 3—What is the evidence for or against the idea that God meant Jesus to be the earthly King of the Jews, as the wise men seemed to think, and as Herod feared?

(9) Verses 4-6—What prophet is here referred to, and where did these priests and scribes quote from?

(10) Did the prophet they quoted from and did these scribes and priests think that the expected Christ was to be an earthly King? Why?

(11) Verse 7—What is it which makes diligent study of a worthy subject noble or ignoble?

(12) Verse 8—How would you describe a man with a motive of Herod when he sent these wise men off to find Jesus?

(13) What reason is there, if any, to believe that some attend Church today, pretending they are seeking Jesus, with as ignoble motives as Herod had?

(14) Verse 9—if a man today would see Jesus what "star" or sign does he need to follow?

(15) Does God send a "star" or its equivalent pointing to Jesus to every man or to only a few? Give your reasons.

(16) Verse 10—Mention some things which always produce joy and then describe that which produces the greatest joy to mortals known.

(17) Verse 11—What is the ground for belief that those who seek Jesus will surely find him? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(18) What are the emotions stirred, the motives formed and the deeds done by all who really seek and find Jesus?

(19) Verse 12—is there any liability that those who live in the presence of Jesus will ever be duped into betraying him?

That it is put up in small tablets which most people call MI-O-NA Stomach Tablets.

Do you know that F. B. Johnson & Co. guarantees MI-O-NA to banish indigestion or any upset condition of the stomach, or money back.

+Backache is only a simple thing at first;

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney trouble follow;

That dropsy, Bright's may be the fatal end,

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Rushville citizen.

George Priest, 223 W. Third street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I was bothered by attacks of kidney trouble for several years and as time passed my condition became worse. There was dull pain directly over my kidneys and I had spells of dizziness and weakness. My sight became blurred and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Stoore. They proved to be the best kidney medicine I had ever taken and in a short time had relieved me. On several occasions during the past three years, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always given entire satisfaction."

J. P. Morgan has been seen at Monte Carlo, and we hope he was not so reckless as to plank down a plank on the green tables.

Anyone who wants a tariff schedule revised while he is having his boots blacked, should apply to the House Democrats.

Five Ecuador generals were lynched the other day. They probably took the generals because they could not find any privates.

The harmonious meetings of the Republicans over the State are encouraging toward success. Now for thorough organization and effective work.

Woodrow Wilson will find it somewhat difficult to convince the American people that Henry Watterson is a fabricator or an undesirable citizen.

Accomplished facts are sufficient Republican vindication, according to President Taft. A competent party can face every new contest by pointing to its record.

Sculptor Harvey committed suicide because his work was not recognized. If he had been making bricks or houses instead of statues he might be well and happy today.

A Philadelphia woman has beaten an English champion at fencing, and if the latter is not satisfied, she might see if she could have better luck with her tongue.

No Wall street money will be taken by any presidential candidate this year, but we believe any one would be justified in taking it for a ham sandwich of the man was starving.

The government proposes to save $5,500,000 by abolishing sixteen army posts, utterly ignoring the fact that a number of grocers supplying these posts will have to go out of business.

The beef packers say the high price of meat is due to the retailers, and the retailers say it is because lubby is no longer willing to carry a brown paper parcel through the streets.

Forty American Immortals are appointed by the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and John Franklin Baker, who made two home runs in the world's series for Philadelphia, is still denied just recognition.

Mars Henry says he was the innocent bystander in the Wilson-Harvey row, but like other innocent bystanders, he seems to have a genius for being on the spot when something happens.

A leading question is, what is a political progressive, what are the distinguishing marks of a progressive in either party. The inquiry grows out of the fact, there are progressives real and imitations, and some have "progressed" to such an extent as to lose all ear-marks of the party to which they belonged.

Republicans as they will meet in their various conventions this year, find no occasion whatever for a tone of apology. After an exceptionally long period of full control of all departments of the government, the party points to its record of things accomplished as the essential exhibit in the case. On every instance that will figure prominently in the campaign of this year the Republicans can hold their lines and move forward. They have been tried and not found wanting, wherein they differ from the opposition that is viewed with public distrust based on experience.

Now that this landmark of the paragrapheers union has passed there is nothing in sight but the Fourth of July. That should sound good to our faithful few, which by the way is not so few as it once was (or as they were once).

Let's take that for the happy thought today and remember the "safe and same" business doesn't commence for some stink weeks yet.

The grand jury is going to convene and let this warning take a front seat in your think tank. Look out for Dennis.

That is to say, Dennis allowed, a few weeks ago, that he would set things astir a little. He set the tongues a waggin' but the stirrin' haint begun yet.

Kokomo Tribune, which paper does not care how much we gloom out of its "Pickings" so long as the proofreader doesn't make a mistake, informs us that a neighboring paper is conducting a forum (whatever this is) to ascertain how many eggs hens lay "on the average." The Tribune is hectic (meaning, whatever you choose it to mean) to know how many eggs the hens lay on the nest.

After these few well written words we leave you to await another ground-hog day and with the impression that this bulwark of conceit might have been better if we had been smarter.

BANQUET TONIGHT.

The men's Century Bible class of the Main Street Christian Sunday school will hold a banquet this evening in the basement of the church at seven o'clock. A large number of invitations have been issued and a large attendance is desired.

TO GIVE DICKENS PROGRAM.

Carthage Citizen: The pupils of the Carthage high school are preparing to observe the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Charles Dickens, February 7. The program will be given at the opening of school that morning and in the chapel if the latter can be heated. A biography, reading, dialogue, songs, etc., constitute the program.

IN NEED OF PROVISIONS.

The Salvation Army is again in need of clothing and provisions and would appreciate all donations. The Army has had numerous calls for assistance this winter and they continue to come in so that their supplies are almost exhausted. Captain Cook will call for provisions if noticed.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace offers as a feature attraction tonight the beautiful Thanhouser picture, "Cinderella." The fairy tale of "Cinderella" is well known and the picture follows closely the action of the story. Cinderella is an ill-treated girl and is not allowed to attend a ball given by the King's son. Fortunately the poor child had a fairy godmother who sent her to the dance. The rest of the story of how she lost a slipper and the Prince finding it and the offer of marriage is too well known to repeat. The picture is a spectacular production and is said to bring out in detail the adventures of Cinderella. The scenic effects of the picture are unsurpassed and add much to the beauty of the film which is said to be a masterpiece. The picture, because of the great demand will be shown only tonight. The other picture is a Solax film entitled "Baby Needs Medicine."

"A Football Hero," the feature picture at the Princess tonight tells the story of two men on the college team. One plays a sneak game and lies down when the great contest is in progress. The other is a substitute and is put in his place. His drop kick wins the game and it comes about through a glance from the girl's eye which tells him he must win the game. The other picture is an interesting drama, "A Romance of the '60's."

The second benefit to be given tonight at the Portola by the Emanon Club for Miss Curtis Lore, promises to be attended by even-larger crowds than last Friday. An attractive program has been arranged including three pictures and splendid music. The VanOsdol orchestra of the Jackson school will give a selection and the Misses Mary Louise Poe and Mary Louise Bliss will sing a duet. Charles VanCamp will also sing. The first picture is a Biograph, "The Miser's Hoard." A Lubin, "His Brother's Double" and a Kalem, "The Temptation of Rodney Vane" are the other two pictures.

"Don't believe him, mummy, don't believe him," she repeated.

"Then tell me that you will never leave me again," implored the widow.

Christine was silent and Raoul resumed.

"That is what you must promise, Christine. It is the only thing that will reassure your mother and me. We will undertake not to ask you a single question about the past, if you promise us to remain under our protection in future."

"That is an undertaking which I have not asked of you and I promise which I refuse to make you!" said the young girl haughtily. "I am mistress of my own actions, M. de Chagny; you have no right to control them, and I will beg you to desist henceforth. As to what I have done during the last fortnight, there is only one man in the world who has the right to demand an account of me: my husband! Well, I have no husband and I never mean to marry!"

She threw out her hands to emphasize her words and Raoul turned pale, not only because of the words which he had heard, but because he had caught sight of a plain gold ring on Christine's finger.

"You have no husband and yet you wear a wedding-ring."

He tried to seize her hand, but she swifly drew it back.

"That's a present!" she said, blushing once more and vainly striving to hide her embarrassment.

"Christine! As you have no husband, that ring can only have been given by one who hopes to make you his wife! Why deceive us further?
Why torture me still more? That ring is a promise; and that promise has been accepted!"

"That's what I said!" exclaimed the old lady.

"And what did she answer, madame?"

"What I chose," said Christine, driven to exasperation. "Don't you think, monsieur, that this cross-examination has lasted long enough? As far as I am concerned . . ."

Raoul was afraid to let her finish her speech. He interrupted her:

"I beg your pardon for speaking as I did, mademoiselle. You know the good intentions that make me meddle,
just now, in matters which, you no doubt think, have nothing to do with me. But allow me to tell you what I have seen—and I have seen more than you suspect, Christine—or what I saw, for, to tell you the truth, I have sometimes been inclined to doubt the evidence of my eyes."

"Well, what did you see, sir, or think you saw?"

"I saw your ecstasy at the sound of the voice, Christine; the voice that came from the wall or the next rooms to yours . . . yes, your ecstasy!
And that is what makes me alarmed on your behalf. You are under a very dangerous spell. And yet it seems that you are aware of the imposture, because you say today that there is no Angel of Music! In that case, Christine, why did you follow him that time? Why did you stand up, with radiant features, as though you were really hearing angels? . . . Ah, it is a very dangerous voice, Christine, for I myself, when I heard it, was so much fascinated by it that you vanished before my eyes without my seeing which way you passed! Christine, Christine, in the name of heaven, in the name of your father who is in heaven now and who loved you so dearly and who loved me too, Christine, tell us, tell your benefactress and me, to whom does that voice belong? If you do, we will save you in spite of yourself. Come, Christine, the name of the man! The name of the man who had the audacity to put a ring on your finger!"

"M. de Chagny," the girl declared boldly, "you shall never know!"

Thereupon, seeing the hostility with which her ward had addressed the viscount, Mamma Valerius suddenly took Christine's part.

"And, if she does love that man, monsieur le vicomte, even then it is no business of yours!"

"Alas, madame," Raoul humbly replied, unable to restrain his tears,
"alas, I believe that Christine really does love him! . . . But it is not only that which drives me to despair;
for what I am not certain of, madame,
is that the man whom Christine loves is worthy of her love!"

"It is for me to be the judge of that, monsieur!" said Christine, looking Raoul angrily in the face.

"When a man," continued Raoul, adopts such romantic methods to encourage a young girl's affections . . ."

"The man must be either a villain, or the girl a fool; is that it?"

"Christine?"

"Raoul, why do you condemn a man whom you have never seen, whom no one knows and about whom you yourself know nothing?"

"Yes, Christine. . . . Yes. . . .

I at least know the name that you thought to keep from me for ever.

The name of your Angel of Music, mademoiselle, is Erik!"

Christine at once betrayed herself.
She turned as white as a sheet and stammered:

"Who told you?"

"You yourself!"

"How do you mean?"

"By pitying him the other night, the night of the masked ball. When you went to your dressing-room, did you not say, 'Poor Erik?' Well, Christine, there was a poor Raoul who overheard
you."

"This is the second time that you have listened behind the door, M. de Chagny."

"I was not behind the door . . .
I was in the dressing-room, in the inner room, mademoiselle."

"Oh, unhappy man!" moaned the girl, showing every sign of unspeak-able terror. "Unhappy man! Do you want to be killed?"

Raoul uttered this "perhaps" with so much love and despair in his voice that Christine could not keep back a sob. She took his hands and looked at him with all the pure affection of which she was capable.

"Raoul," she said, "forget the man's voice and do not even remember its name. . . . You must never try to fathom the mystery of the man's voice."

"Is the mystery so very terrible?"

"There is no more awful mystery on this earth. Swear to me that you will make no attempt to find out,"
she insisted. "Swear to me that you will never come to my dressing-room, unless I send for you."

"Then you promise to send for me sometimes, Christine?"

"I promise."

"When?"

"Tomorrow."

"Then I swear to do as you ask."

He kissed her hands and went away, cursing Erik and resolving to be patient.

CHAPTER XI.

Above the Trap-Doors.

The next day he saw her at the opera. She was still wearing the plain gold ring. She was gentle and kind to him. She talked to him of the plans which he was forming, or his future, of his career.

He told her that the date of the Polar expedition had been put forward and that he would leave France in three weeks, or a month at least.

She suggested, almost gaily, that he must look upon the voyage with delight, as a stage toward his coming fame. And when he replied that fame without love was no attraction in his eyes, she treated him as a child whose sorrows were only short-lived.

"How can you speak so lightly of such serious things?" he asked. "Perhaps we shall never see each other again! I may die during that expedition."

"She is wearing the ring again tonight; and you did not give it to her.
She gave her soul again tonight and did not give it to you. . . . If she will not tell you what she has been doing the past two days . . . you must go and ask Erik!"

He ran behind the scenes and placed himself in her way. She saw him for her eyes were looking for him.
She said:

"Quick! Quick! . . . Come!"

And she dragged him to her dressing-room.

Raoul at once threw himself on his knees before her. He swore to her that he would go and he entreated her never again to withhold a single hour of the ideal happiness which she had promised him. She let her tears flow. They kissed like a despairing pair. And then they closed and grew over, and the scalp is glazed.

that led them to the little girls' dancing-school, where brats between six and ten were practicing their steps, in the hope of becoming great dancers one day, "covered with diamonds." Meanwhile, Christine gave them sweets instead.

Suddenly, she snatched herself from the young man's soft and timid embrace, seemed to listen to something, and, with a quick gesture, pointed to the door. When he was on the threshold, she said, in so low a voice that the viscount guessed rather than heard her words:

"Tomorrow, my dear betrothed!
And be happy, Raoul; I sang for you tonight!"

He returned the next day. But those two days of absence had broken the charm of their delightful make-believe. They looked at each other, in the dressing-room, with their sad eyes, without exchanging a word.
Raoul had to restrain himself not to cry out:

"I am jealous! I am jealous! I am jealous!"

But she heard him all the same.
Then she said:

"Come for a walk, dear. The air will do you good."

Raoul thought that she would propose a stroll in the country, far from that building which he detested as a prison whose jailer he could feel walking within the walls . . . the jailer Erik. . . . But she took him to the stage and made him sit on the wooden curb of a well, in the doubtful peace and coolness of a first scene set for the evening's performance.

On another day, she wandered with him, hand in hand, along the deserted paths of a garden whose creepers had been cut out by a decorator's skillful hands. It was as though the real sky, the real flowers, the real earth were forbidden her for all time and she condemned to breathe no other air than that of the theater.
An occasional fireman passed, watching over their melancholy idyll from afar. And she would drag him up above the clouds, in the magnificent disorder of the grid, where she loved to make him giddy by running in front of him along the frail bridges, among the thousands of ropes fastened to the pulleys, the windlasses, the rollers, in the midst of a regular forest of yards and masts. If he hesitated, she said, with an adorable pout of her lips:

"You, a sailor!"

And then they returned to terra

GROWS HAIR ON BALD HEADS

Bald-headed People May Get a New Chance in Life.

In these days when youth is the moving factor in business, when a man makes his mark at thirty-five and is ready to retire at forty-five, when business houses pension the man we call "middle aged" rather than allow his lagging influence to intrude upon the commercial rush, a bad head is almost fatal to any man's hopes. The following must therefore prove interesting to people who are losing their hair or who are bald.

Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective germ killers discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Napthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its nutrient, and also creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpin is a well-known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease of the scalp.
Yet, it is not a coloring matter or dye.

This combination of curatives mixed with alcohol as a stimulant per-fects a most effective remedy for hair and scalp troubles.

The famous Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of Resorcin, Beta Napthol, and Pilocarpin. It helps to make the scalp healthy, to nourish the hair, to stimulate the follicles. Where the head is already bare, it enters the follicles, revitalizes the roots, supplies nourishment, and stimulates a new growth.

We want you to try a few bottles of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except, of course, where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have

She took him to the wardrobe and property-rooms, took him all over her empire, which was artificial, but immense, covering seventeen stories from the ground-floor to the roof and inhabited by an army of subjects. She moved among them like a popular queen, encouraging them in their labor, sitting down in the workshops, giving words of advice to the workers,

TRAPPED THEM BY DICTOGRAPH

How Burns Men Lured On Reluctant Witnesses.

WORKED THE FRIENDSHIP GAG

Weeks of Patient and Continuously Ingratiating Endeavor Necessary to Gain From Witnesses in the Lorimer Case Admissions Which Prosecution Sought to Clinch a Point in Its Case Against the Senator From Illinois.

Washington, Feb. 2.—When W. J. Burns, whose clever work wove a net about the McNamaras, was again in the witness chair, the dignified senate committee investigating the Lorimer case got another insight into expert detective work. He was followed by A. C. Bailey, one of the Burns detectives, who trailed Charles McGowan of Elora, Canada, a Lorimer witness, for several months.

Again Burns and E. G. Haney, attorney for Lorimer, clashed and the detective once or twice threatened to discipline the lawyer unless the committee acted promptly. Judge Haney was reprimanded by the committee and urged to stroke the bristles of Burns the smooth way. The colloquy between the lawyer and the detective brought out some startling statements. For instance, Judge Haney asked Detective Burns if his agency employed safe blowers or egg men for detective work, and Burns admitted that it did on occasions. He gave Judge Haney more information than he sought by adding that he had known of lawyers who employed cracksmen to blow up safes in order to get evidence which the lawyers needed in the trial of their cases. No names were mentioned.

There was no verbal sparring though when A. C. Bailey, a Burns man, took the witness chair. He was led by the counsel for the committee, John J. Healy of Chicago, through the many weeks of his experiences in associating with Charles McGowan and drawing from the latter information in the form of admissions as to McGowan's part in the Lorimer case. This detective, who had "trapped" McGowan, devoted two hours and a half to reading notes from a diary he had kept of his movements in company with the young Canadian. The diary recorded the developments up until the detective made his final visit to Toronto, where McGowan was invited to a room in a hotel and is alleged to have made certain damaging admissions in the presence of one Harry Kerr of Detroit. This conversation, according to the Burns detective, has been preserved through the medium of the dictograph and will be reproduced before the committee later.

Mr. Bailey testified he was first employed by the senate committee on June 26 last. His instructions were to make the acquaintance of one Orme Stewart of Regina, Canada, who was staying at a Chicago hotel. Stewart, the testimony showed, was a partner of young McGowan in the business of drilling wells in the Saskatchewan country, Canada. The detective had learned that Stewart had been talking around the hotel barroom about McGowan's testimony before the Lorimer committee. The detective fell in with Stewart, according to his story, told him he was an adjuster for an American bridge company and accompanied Stewart into Canada. In that way the Burns sleuth became acquainted with McGowan. Gradually he wormed into the confidence of the young man and, according to the diary read before the committee, McGowan discussed the Lorimer case and his relations with the "Hines crowd" with frankness and frequency. The detective and McGowan went to places of amusement together, hunted together in the wilds for a week and finally journeyed to Chicago and were much in each other's company. All of this happened while the detective was in the employ of the committee. Their association was renewed later when McGowan talked into the dictograph as well as into the ears of his supposed friend.

According to Bailey, McGowan told him that he had testified before the Lorimer committee at the request of one R. C. Shields, for whom he had also made an affidavit that was used in the case. Shields, according to the story, was in the Hines Lumber company's employ. In one of his conversations the young Canadian is alleged to have said that Hines assured him he should be paid and that C. F. Weihe, Hines's brother-in-law, also promised to pay him and did actually give him finally $1,500. A part of the detective's story which he claimed to have elicited from McGowan, dealt with the efforts of the young Canadian to collect the money which he contended was due him from Weihe.

Departed Secretly.

Indianapolis, Feb. 2.—Ortie E. McManigal, having completed his testimony before the federal grand jury investigating the dynamiting conspiracy, has departed secretly and in custody of officers for Los Angeles.

Evelyn Walsh McLean, wife of Edward McLean, daughter of the late Thomas F. Walsh, the mine owner, finally is the owner of the famous Hope diamond.

Cascarets Cleanse Liver and Bowels

No Biliousness, Headache, Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give you a thorough cleansing inside and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

REV. DR. M. C. PETERS.

New York Minister Runs Grocery to Combat High Prices.

New York, Feb. 2.—The Rev. Madison C. Peters, roused to deep indignation by the high prices of food, has started a grocery store where the consumer can buy his supplies at cost. A philanthropic friend lately gave him the use of some rooms over in Harlem's east side for mission purposes, and it is in one of these that he has established his store.

DEMOCRATIC EDITORS IN CONVENTION TODAY

Annual Midwinter Meeting of State Association.

Indianapolis, Feb. 2.—At the Denison hotel today the Indiana Democratic Editorial association is holding its annual midwinter business session. The resolutions adopted strongly endorse Governor Marshall as the Democratic nominee for president, and praise the Democratic state administration and the Democratic congressmen and senators from Indiana.

The meeting is presided over by S. Paul Poynter of Sullivan, president of the association, who also acted as toastmaster at the annual banquet given at the Denison last night. Oscar Cravens of Bloomington is secretary of the association. Among those who took part in the business session today were Benjamin F. McKee of the Lebanon Pioneer, who spoke on "System in a Country Office"; W. S. Chambers of the Newcastle Democrat, on "Abuse of Free Reading Notices"; Lew M. O'Bannon of the Corydon Democrat, on "Country Correspondence and Circulation," and John C. Mellett of the Indiana University Daily Student, on "Schools of Journalism."

The banquet last night was one of the most largely attended affairs of this sort in the history of the association. The principal speaker was Governor Marshall, who dwelt on the economical administration of state affairs by the Democrats, and gave some advice to the Democrats concerning their attitude in this year's campaign.

Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, talked of "Industrial Education"; State Chairman Bernard Korbly discussed "Party Organization and the Relation of Editors to It." Among the other speakers were Albert J. Veneman, speaker of the last Indiana house of representatives; Samuel M. Ralston, candidate for governor, and National Committee-man Thomas Taggart. One of the features of the evening's entertainment was the appearance of Kin Hubbard with his "Abe Martin Folks."

Commission Reduces Express Rates.

Indianapolis, Feb. 2.—Local express rates in Indiana have been ordered reduced on an average of 15 per cent by the state railroad commission. Judge Wood, who wrote the opinion, believes the companies will not contest. The new rates go into effect on March 15.

LOOKING OVER THE RECORDS

Government Inspects Books of Labor Federation.

FOUR TRUNKS FULL OF THEM

Secretary Morrison Arrives at Indianapolis With the Records Relating to Disposition of McNamara Defense Fund, of Which He Was Custodian—He Says Clarence Darrow Received More Than $170,000 of This Fund.

Indianapolis, Feb. 2.—Secretary of the American Federation of Labor Frank Morrison arrived here from Washington with four big trunks containing books and records of the federation, which were taken at once to the federal building, and an hour later Morrison went into the jury room and gave testimony as to the defense fund that was raised for John J. McNamara.

"It will not take long to examine our records concerning the defense fund, I should judge," said Morrison, "although that is, of course, something for the government to determine. There are more than 4,000 entries showing receipts for the fund. The number of entries showing disbursements is not so large. Approximately $230,000 was raised, of which about $10,000 is now in my hands. The complete statement showing in detail just what money came in and how it was paid out will be issued within a short time."

That the $170,000 known to have been paid to Clarence Darrow was not all the money Darrow received, was admitted by Morrison, although in view of the present inquiry he said he would not give the exact amount.

"The $170,000 referred to in the partial statement to union officers some time ago was correct at that time," said Morrison. He received some other payments later, however.

He said he had no comment to make on the indictments against Darrow.

CLEANED UP

Murder of James Mitchell Avenged by Five Convictions.

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 2.—Joseph Fultz was found guilty of the murder of James Mitchell and sentenced to life imprisonment by the jury which heard the fifth case growing out of the finding of the aged farmer's body in the road near Bedford, where he had been killed and robbed.

Charles Mitchell, Joseph Fultz, Oliver Younger, Mrs. Lula Sutton and Della Hamilton, were jointly charged with the crime. Younger turned state's evidence and Mitchell testified against Fultz in the trial just closed. Mitchell and Fultz were sentenced for life. Younger for two to twenty-one years, and Lula Sutton was sent to the woman's prison and Della Hamilton to the girls' school.

TANGIBLE REFUTATION

This Woman's Clothes Challenged Her Complaint of Non-Support.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 2.—Stylishly dressed women seeking divorce on the ground of nonsupport are not to be considered in the Vanderburg circuit court, according to Judge Spencer's precedent. Mrs. Ima Dill was testifying in her cross-complaint against George Dill, who failed to get a divorce some time ago.

"Divorce refused," declared Judge Spencer. "This defendant comes into court wearing enough clothes to equip a department store. I don't see any non-support about her."

Mrs. Dill had admitted that her husband had furnished her the clothes she wore before the separation.

TO WARD OFF RABIES

Well-Known Richmond Woman Fears Consequence of Dog Bite.

Richmond, Ind., Feb. 2.—Mrs. Caroline Horman, a well-known woman, has gone to Indianapolis to take the Pasteur treatment, in an effort to ward off a threatened attack of hydrophobia. Mrs. Horman was bitten by a pet dog several days ago. The animal showed symptoms of rabies and was killed. The head was sent to the state's expert for examination, and the county health department was notified that the dog had been afflicted with rabies. Mrs. Horman was advised by the health department to lose no time in taking the Pasteur treatment.

Will Not Sell Historic Structure.

Danville, Ind., Feb. 2.—The county commissioners have decided not to sell the old Hendricks county courthouse at public auction, as was intended. The commissioners will wreck the old building, according to present plans, and use the material in building a heating plant for the new structure and the jail.

committee appointed to raise more funds for the hitchrack had canvassed a part of the merchants and had succeeded in adding a few quarters to the weekly income of the rack-tender. But now according to the report made to the meeting, Price is collecting only $11.35 a week and fifteen dollars has to be paid out in rent every month.

That this sum is not enough for the tender to live on was the sentiment of the business men and the secretary resolved to start out Saturday, with the aid of another business man, and see if he can not raise the weekly collections to at least fifteen dollars a week, so that the rack-tender can make enough to keep body and soul together.

It was revealed at the meeting last night that there are a number of merchants in Rushville paying nothing toward the support of the hitchrack. It was pointed out these same business men derive as much benefit as those who pay the regular stipend, twenty-five cents a week, and that there is no reason why they should not share the expense. Some business men, it was said, paid only fifteen cents a week, while a few contribute a dime to the rack-tender.

The opinion was ventured by one man that the hitchrack is worth twenty thousand dollars worth of business annually to the business men of Rushville and he could not understand why business men are so laggardly about the matter. The hitchrack is a convenient place for women as well as men to hitch. Its maintenance means that a farmer who comes to Rushville to remain only a few hours will not have to put his horse in a stable.

Merchants talked for a few minutes of the alleged bad condition of the mail service in the northern part of the county, but took no action in that regard. It was said at the meeting that a test had been made and that it required five days for a letter to be sent from Raleigh to this city and return. It is claimed the trouble lies in the schedule of the local division of the L. E. & W. railroad.

Attorney General Defines Scope of Corrupt Practices Act.

In response to an inquiry from Kendallville, Thomas M. Honan, attorney general, has given it as his opinion that the corrupt practices act, enacted by the recent general assembly, to insure publicity for campaign contributions and expenditures does not apply to delegates to a district convention called to elect a district chairman. In response to an other inquiry, he held the treasurer of a county central committee is required to file his certificate of appointment to such place and his bond with the county clerk, and not with the secretary of State.

HE WILL EXPLOIT HOOSIER COOKING

Col. Jim Worth, Joplin "Millionaire," Engages Rushville Caterer to Operate His Hotel.

A NEW BUSINESS FOR HIM

Col. Jim Worth of Joplin, Mo., known as the "Joplin millionaire," who is famous for his diamonds, showy clothes and inclination toward matrimony, is pulling off a new stunt in the way of a hotel enterprise, says the Indianapolis Sun.

Col. Worth created a sensation in Indianapolis two or three years ago by advertising that he wanted an Indianapolis girl for his wife and setting out in his advertisement his idea of feminine loveliness. Several hundred Indianapolis young women, believing that they came up to the requirements, sought Col. Worth's smile. He is still unmarried.

The colonel has established a big hotel at Joplin and has engaged Julius Hambrock and wife of Rushville to take charge of the house. "I want to show the people of Missouri what Hoosier cooking is like," said the colonel.

tion question, the matter having been left to the state convention for settlement.

Chairman Meredith will call the district committee into session within a few days. At the meeting arrangements will be made for the convention that will nominate a candidate for congress and select a delegate to the Republican national convention.

Chairman Meredith believes that the convention should be held early and the campaign started. He is a hard worker and will conduct a strenuous campaign.

The Richmond Palladium says: Republican leaders from all parts of the Sixth congressional district are united in the opinion that Wednesday's convention at Cambridge City which elected Linus P. Meredith as a member of the Republican State committee was one of the most harmonious that the "old Sixth" has ever witnessed.

There was on every side a disposition to "give and take," and at no time was there apparent a disposition to refuse due consideration of the opinions of individual members of the delegations. When county delegations held caucuses there were various suggestions made as to just what the convention should do along the line of resolutions. One county sent what practically was a solid Taft delegation, the membership believing it would have been quite the proper thing to endorse Taft not only for his work as president, but to take a definite stand for him as a candidate for re-election. On the other hand there were delegations, Wayne being notable among others, that had numerous members against any Taft endorsement. The upshot was that the administration was endorsed and there reference to Taft ended.
